

optics of liquid crystal pdf

Liquid crystals (LCs) are a state of matter which has properties between those of conventional liquids and those of solid crystals. For instance, a liquid crystal may flow like a liquid, but its molecules may be oriented in a crystal-like way. There are many different types of liquid-crystal phases, which can be distinguished by their different optical properties (such as textures).

Liquid crystal - Wikipedia

A liquid-crystal display (LCD) is a flat-panel display or other electronically modulated optical device that uses the light-modulating properties of liquid crystals. Liquid crystals do not emit light directly, instead using a backlight or reflector to produce images in color or monochrome. LCDs are available to display arbitrary images (as in a general-purpose computer display) or fixed images ...

A team from the Faculty of Physics, MSU together with their foreign colleagues developed a new liquid crystal material with high potential as a basis for brighter, faster, energy saving displays ...

Scientists developed a material for the new type of liquid

Discover the possibilities! Conventional liquid crystal displays were invented at Kent State, and the Liquid Crystal Institute remains an internationally recognized center of excellence in both fundamental science and technology applications of this elusive state of matter.

Imaging Spectroscopy Using Tunable Filters: A Review

Crystal quartz is birefringent material that should be noted if the polarization of radiation is important. We use x-cut material to produce $\lambda/2$ and $\lambda/4$ waveplates for usage at THz wavelengths.. More about general properties of crystal quartz as well as transmission spectrum within UV and visible range, you can find at chapter Synthetic Crystal Quartz.
